

President's Perspective. . . A few words

Life is so busy these days. I know I do not speak for everyone, but between our responsibilities at home and at work, our need to keep up with emails and all other forms of social media, it can be exhausting at times. We are all running around getting our kids to school and activities, helping with homework, visiting with grandchildren, finding time to exercise, running errands, and squeezing out time for meaningful volunteer experiences and of course, our friends. The list is long. I often find myself with little time to just think, contemplate, or relax. Though, with more Shabbat observance, I am getting a little better at slowing down, even if just for 24 hours to give myself a chance to breathe. It's wonderful. Consider joining me.

Now we find ourselves in the month of Elul...a time for introspection and reflection. We really do need time to think. We need to take an accounting of the last year.

What did we do well? Where could we have done better? To whom do we need to apologize? Who do we need to thank? For me, those lists might be quite extensive! There is always room for improvement and there are always opportunities to express gratitude. How fortunate we are to have the chance to wipe the slate clean and start fresh, or build on the successes of the last year.

Personally, I am grateful to all of you, for your friendship, support, and commitment to Anshai Torah this past year. We are where we are because of all of you; we are one big, beautiful family with a bright and beautiful future. Thank you. Jeff and I, along with Ross, Melissa, and Erica wish you all a Shana Tovah U'metukah. May you have a happy and sweet new year and may we all be inscribed for a year filled with health and goodness.
